Network Name  URL	AISHE – The All Ireland Society for Higher Education  https://www.aishe.org
Mission / Aim / Focus	The All Ireland Society for Higher Education (AISHE) is an independent, membership-based professional society dedicated to the promotion of good practice in learning and teaching throughout the island of Ireland. It represents the academic community across disciplines and communities of practice and also those who support learning and teaching in general. AISHE aims to provide a platform for critical dialogue and sustainable engagement in relation to the core concepts underpinning the very fabric of the Higher Education Community throughout the island of Ireland.
Brief History	Established in 2000, AISHE promotes the development and dissemination of good and innovative practice in our flagship online journal The All Ireland Journal of Teaching and Learning in Higher Education (AISHE-J, https://www.aishe-j.org ). All third-level institutions are represented in the AISHE membership.
Membership types	Membership is free. Requirements are engagement and participation in higher education on the island of Ireland. Benefits include the AISHE mailing list, participation at AISHE events and access to AISHE-J and AISHE readings (which are generally open access).
Legal Structure	The AISHE constitution is available at https://www.aishe.org/about/aishe-constitution/
Governance / Operating Structure*	The AISHE executive is elected by the membership and serve three year terms. Subcommittees are formed as needed.
Funding Sources	AISHE is self-funded through fees for attendances at conferences, etc.
